Food Labelling Claims

Session Date: Wednesday 26th November 2025

Session Time: 09.30 – 12.30

Objectives: Candidates will be introduced to legislation and guidance on food labelling claims including health and nutrition, such as omega 3, low fat, low sugar, low salt claims, organic claims, and processing claims such as 'homemade' and 'traditional.'

Trainer: Joanna Sheath

Trainer biography: Joanna Sheath is a Senior Trading Standards Officer with over 30 years' experience working with businesses and consumers advising and enforcing food legislation. She is also qualified in food safety and nutrition. As an experienced trainer she regularly teaches food standards, and food safety to regulatory officers and as a practicing Trading Standards Officer can offer her experience and knowledge on how to deal with everyday issues a food officer would typically encounter.

Programme

The session will cover the following areas:

- Examination of the legislation and guidance associated with food claims;
- Compositional and labelling requirements dependent on the type of claims being made;
- Practical examples of how to enforce the legislation during inspections

There will be plenty of time for you to ask questions and you are welcome to submit these in advance by emailing info@faabtraining.co.uk

CPD Hours: 3 hours

Who should attend?

For newly qualified food enforcement officers, those training to be food qualified, or as a refresher for officers currently working or returning to food enforcement.
